

Abstract Return
Union Department of Washington
28 February 1863

Commanding General: Major General S.P.Heintzelman

General headquarters	(15/35)
District of Alexandria	(143/2,871)*
Artillery Defenses of Alexandria	(135/2,424)
Artillery Brigade (Cogwell)	(71/1,588)
Abercrombie's Division	(266/5,946)
Casey's Division	(356/7,093)
Provisional Brigade	(35/476)
Cavalry	(221/3,990)
Pennsylvania Reserves	(147/4,013)
District of Washington	(177/3,173)
Artillery Camp of Instruction	(33/905)
Defenses North of the Potomac	(256/5,733)
Corps of Observation	(137/3,056)
Railway Brigade	(30/707)
Fort Washington, Maryland	(4/87)

* Includes camps for convalescents, paroled and exchanged prisoners and stragglers.

 Including the Provisional Brigade. The 118th, 100th, 52nd and 159th New York were transferred to the District of Washington.

 Transferred from the Army of the Potomac.

U.S. War Department, The War of the Succession, A Compilation of Official Records of the Union and Confederate Armies, Government Printing Office; Washington D.C. 1882