

Abstract Return
Union Army of the Potomac
and
The Department of Virginia and North Carolina
November 1864

Union Army of the Potomac

Commanding General: Major General George C. Meade

General Headquarters	(40/0)
Provost Guard (Patrick)	(50/1,249)
Engineer Brigade (Benham)	(76/3,781)
U.S. Engineer Battalion (Harwood)	(7/182)
Artillery (Hunt)	(36/1,414)
Guards & Orderies (Batchelder)	(1/32)
Signal Corps (Fisher)	(13/126)
2nd Army Corps (Humphreys)	(826/17,545)
5th Army Corps (Warren)	(746/16,195)
8th Army Corps (Parke)	(725/15,316)
2nd Cavalry Division (Gregg)	(195/5,994)

The Department of Virginia and North Carolina
Commanding General: Major General B.F. Butler

General Headquarters	(23/0)
Signal Corps (Norton)	(21/123)
Naval Brigade (Graham)	(22/698)
1st New York Engineers (Serrell)	(8/199)
10th Army Corps (Terry)	(497/14,479)
18th Army Corps (Weitzel)	(420/13,304)
Cavalry Division (Kautz)	(94/2,716)
District of Eastern Virginia (Shepley)	(114/3,399)
District of North Carolina (Palmer)	(242/6,205)
Seperate Brigade (Carr)*	(43/1,066)
Defenses of Bermuda Hundred (Graham)	(169/5,011)

* Includes the forces at Harrison's Landing and Forts Pocahontas and Powhatan.

U.S. War Department, The War of the Succession, A Compilation of Official Records of the Union and Confederate Armies, Government Printing Office; Washington D.C. 1880-1901