The English Army in Flanders
1 August 1678

Commander-in-Chief: James, Duke of Monmouth
2ic & Lt General of Horse: Louis, Earl of Feversham
Major General: Edward Villiers
              Lord Allington
              Thomas Dongan
General of Artillery: Colonel George Legge
Commissary general: Sir Palmes Fairborne
Deputy Secretary at War: James vernon
Treasurers at War: Elnathan Lumm
                            Gosfright

The Horse:
     The Royal Regiment of Horse (6 troops prsent in 2 squadrons)
     The Duke of York's Regiment of Horse (6 troops in 2 squadrons)
     The Duke of Monmouth's Regiment of Horse (6 troops in 2 squadrons)
     The Earl of Feversham's Regiment of Dragoons (6? troops in 3 squadrons) (Note: A squadron of horse should have numbered 180 men and a squadron of dragoons 160 men)

The Foot:
     The First Royal Regiment of Foot Guards*
        commanded by Lord Howard of Estrick
     The Second or Coldstream Regiment of Foot Guards*
     The Duke of York & Albany's Regiment of Foot* commanded by Sir Charles Littleton
     The Holland Regiment of Foot* (Note: Each of the four 'regular' regiments of foot sent only 8 companies of the establishments. These 8 companies, of 100 men each, were formed as "battalions")
     The Duke of Monmouth's Regiment of Foot
        1st Bn commanded by Lt Colonel Justin Macartie
        2nd Bn commanded by Lt Colonel Roger Langley
     The Duchess of York & Albany's Rgiment of Foot*? commanded by Colonel Edward Villiers
     Sir Charles Wheeler's Regiment of Foot
     Lord Allington's Regiment of Foot*
     Colonel George Legge's Regiment of Foot
     Sir John Fenwick's Regiment of Foot
     Sir Lionel Walden's Regiment of Foot
     Lord O'Brien's Regiment of Foot Colonel Henry Sidney's Regiment of Foot*
     Sir Henry Goodricke's Regiment of Foot
     Sir Thomas Slingsby's Regiment of Foot*
          (Note: Each regiment or Battalion was composed of 8 companies of 100 men each)

* These Regiments accompanied Monmouth to Brussels in August - the remainder stayed in garrison at Ostend, Bruges and Nieuport under the command of Sir Charles Littleton)

CSPD, various entries
JSAHR Vol LIII
Childs, J., The Army of Charles II, London 1976